Terry Ransonette Grillo, 62, of Beaumont, died Monday, November 19, 2018, at Christus Hospital St. Elizabeth, Beaumont.

Terry attended Travis Elementary and Thomas Edison Junior High. She was a 1975 graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School in Port Arthur where she enjoyed playing volleyball and running track. In these years made countless friends, many of whom she kept up with through the years.

She attended Lamar University and received a degree in Education with a focus in Math in 1980.

Terry taught at many different schools over 30 years and spent most of her career at Austin Middle School. She ended her career working at West Brook High School, administering the AVID program. Her proudest personal achievement from her time working was to help change the lives of her students, many of whom will tell you how grateful they are for everything she did for them.

In 1982 she married the love of her life, Dan Grillo, who she met at Lamar University. Together they had three wonderful children: Elliott, Alec, and Katie; and two grandchildren, Isabelle and Freya, whom she loved immensely. Terry was extremely proud of her kids who she loved with all of her heart. As a family, they loved going to the beach, traveling to other cities, going to concerts, and seeking out excitement together, no matter where they were.

Terry enjoyed going to New Orleans, going to blues concerts, and spending time with family and friends. She also enjoyed the holidays, especially Halloween, when she would throw amazing Halloween parties.

Survivors include her mother, Ruby Courville Ransonette of Beaumont; her husband of 36 years, Dan Grillo of Beaumont; her daughter, Katie Grillo of Beaumont; her son, Alec Grillo of Beaumont; her son, Elliott Grillo and his wife, Maritza Davis Grillo of Beaumont; their daughters and Terry's granddaughters Isabelle Grillo and Freya Grillo of Beaumont; her sister, Laurie Anderson of Beaumont; her brother, Stuart Ransonette and his wife, Kim of Bella Vista, Arkansas; many nieces, nephews, and cousins; and a multitude of friends.

She was preceded in death by her father, Harold "Red" Ransonette; her sister, Bonnie Sue Ransonette; and her cousin, Alan J. Hebert.

Terry Ransonette Grillo (An Old Soul)

It's impossible to retell the story of someone's life in only a few paragraphs. Terry lived a full life with all of the events and happiness that anyone could have. She experienced all that life could give and did it in a way that made all of us happy. There are too many little things that happen in life to ever recount them all, but all of these little things do matter. And if anyone would complain about any want or need in life, she would set them straight right away, as family and friends are what is most valuable and are all you need.

But, I do want to share something important about Terry. Some of you know Terry very well and some of you know her very, very well. For those of you that knew her very very well, you know that she always considered herself an 'Old Soul'. Now, I'm not sure if Terry even knows what an old soul is, but she lived her life by the old soul that was in her. She did what she wanted to, when she felt it was right to do it and also did nothing when she felt nothing should be done. I think for all of us it was always hard to figure out how she could do nothing at certain times of her life, but there's something to be said for someone that can make that decision so easily. To make such decisions and then do them is something we all would like to be able to do, if they weren't so hard. And perhaps there's something soothing in the fact that, maybe Terry's death was something her old soul decided for her and helped to end the story of her life.

And to her old soul I would just like to say: I Love You.
