Now We're Short A Top Hand

Lord, you know that cowboy
That you called the other night?
His outer shell was tarnished,
But his soul was pure and white.

We know he had his faults, Lord,
Like all us mortals do.
But, Lord, he always did his part,
And he was cowboy through & through.

We'd never doubt your wisdom, Lord,
We'd never doubt your will.
It's just that now we're short a top hand
Back here on our little hill.

We don't begrudge him heaven, Lord,
We know he earned his place.
It's just that now we miss his voice
And long to see his face.

It's not that we're not happy,
Cause he earned his just reward.
It's just that holdin' things together here
Is gettin kinda hard.

Lord, we sure do miss him
Back here on our little spread.
He'd always take the dirty jobs,
The ones that others dread.

And even when his back was bent
From toiling on life's road,
His cheerful smile and gentle voice
Would lighten up our load.

So, Lord, will you forgive us
If we whimper now and then?
It's not that we're not grateful
For the blessings that you send.

It's just that losing him
Was sure a lot to lose.
There's not another cowhand
That can ever fill his shoes.

We'd never doubt your wisdom, Lord.
We'd never doubt your will.
It's just that now we're short a top hand
Back here on our little hill.

Amen.

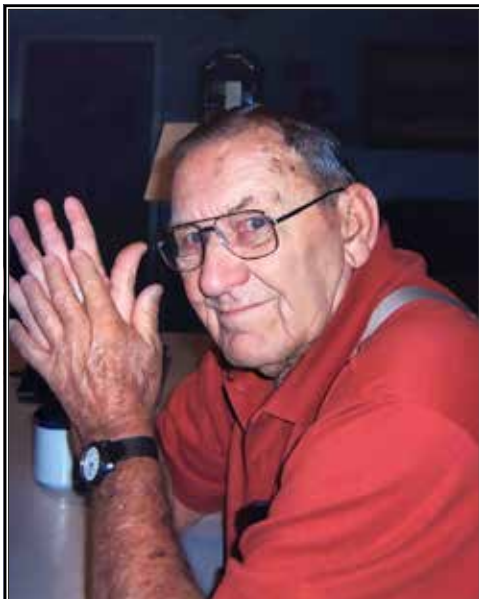

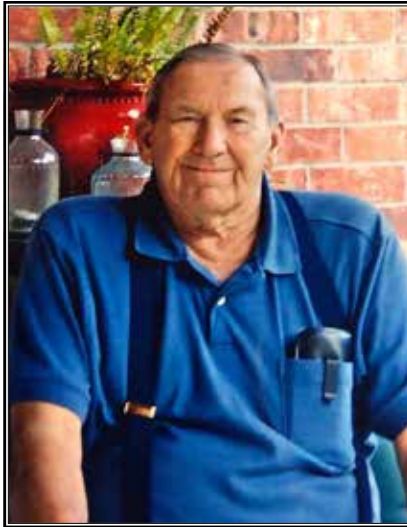

James “Bo” Lowrance, 91, of Winnie, died Tuesday, February 25, 2020. He was born on August 23, 1928, in Nacogdoches, Texas to Bessie Strode Lowrance and Jack Lowrance. Bo was a rice farmer putting in his first crop in 1957 with his winnings from being the Steer Wrestling Champion at the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. He continued to farm and later years farmed with his son and son-in-law until 1981. Prior to the PRCA, Bo was a member of the Turtles Association and still holds his PRCA Gold Card.

Survivors include his wife of twenty-five years, Helen Stanley Lowrance; daughters, Daina Lowrance Beck and her husband, Roy and Julie Lowrance Pryor; son, Reid Lowrance and his wife, Tanya; grandchildren, Weston Pryor and his wife, Leslie; Jack Lowrance; and James Reid Lowrance; great-granddaughter, Harley Rae Pryor; sister, Betty Jean Cowan; stepchildren, Jodi Morrison and Randy Godeau and their families along with numerous nieces and nephews.

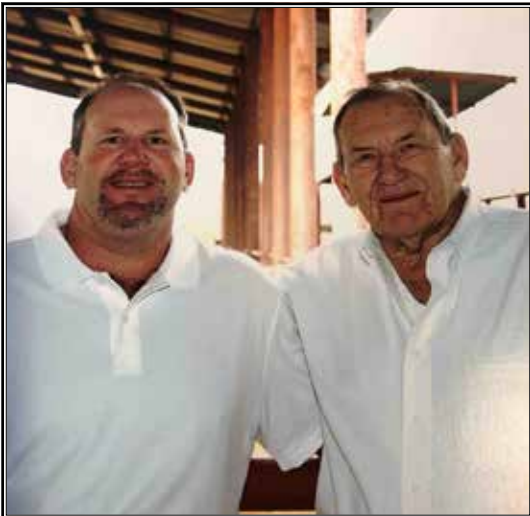

He was preceded in death by his parents; and sister, Jacquelyn Lowrance Lowery.

The family would like to give a special thank you to:

Brenda “Linda” Abshire, Tyler Kutzner, Sharla Gonzales, Dr. Danny Thompson, Dr. Boutte, Elizabeth Hillyer for taking such good care and providing much love to our daddy.
