

Clyde Hermon Bell
August 23, 1935 - February 19, 2019

Clyde Hermon Bell, 83, of Beaumont, died Tuesday, February 19, 2019, at Baptist Hospitals of Southeast Texas, Beaumont. He was born on August 23, 1935, to Edna Sullivan Bell and Clyde Bell, in Chattanooga, Tennessee. He graduated from the University of Tennessee at Knoxville with a BS degree in Chemical Engineering. Clyde was transferred to Beaumont, Texas, in 1974 as an Engineering Manager with Velsicol Chemical. Just a few years later Clyde formed Bell Engineering, where he continued to work until his passing.

Survivors include his wife of fifty-three years, Kaz Bell; daughter, Denice Kiesling and her husband, Brad, of Dallas; son, Chris Bell and his wife, Michelle, of Houston; sister, Betty Eller of Chattanooga, Tennessee; grandchildren, Colin Kiesling, Corinne Kiesling, Claire Kiesling, Ayden Bell, and Cali Bell; and nephews, David Eller and his wife, Terri; Tony Eller and his wife, Lori; and Mark Eller and his wife, Crystal, all of Chattanooga, Tennessee. These are just a few of the lives that will be forever blessed by the kindness and love that was bestowed upon them by such a genuine, gracious and caring man.
