

Frances Kathleen Brannan
August 17, 1926 - October 10, 2018

Celebrating the Life of
Frances Kathleen Brannan
Saturday, October 13, 2018 11:00 a.m.
The Apostolic Church
Beaumont, Texas

SONG – “What A Day That Will Be”

OPENING PRAYER – Reverend M.L. Cole

OBITUARY – Reverend Steve Adams

MEDLEY – “Till the Storm Passes By”
“Tis So Sweet To Trust In Jesus”
“How Beautiful Heaven Must Be”
“Some Day I’ll Walk on Gold”
“Just A Little While to Stay Here”

REMARKS – Randy Hughes

“Prayer Warrior” – Karen Hughes, Robin Brannan, Sunni Gonzales

REMARKS – Michelle LaBrie

“I Won’t Have To Worry” – David Woollen

REMARKS – Reverend Jason Carr

Musicians – Karen Hughes, Brenda Carr, Shayne Gonzales,
Mike Delano, Robin Brannan, Sunni Gonzales, Curtis Bloodworth

Frances Kathleen Barbee Brannan, 92, of Lumberton, went peacefully to be with the Lord on October 10, 2018. She was born on August 17, 1926, in Center, Texas, to James Esko Barbee and Eva Barlow Barbee.

She is preceded in death by her parents, her loving husband of 68 years, Richard Henry Brannan, Jr., and her only sister, Marie Barbee Cole. Frances attended the First Pentecostal Church of Jasper until she married Richard on March 9, 1947. Their wedding was officiated by her pastor, Rev. Mason Stark. They then moved to Beaumont, Texas, where Richard was employed by Jefferson Drug Company.

Frances and Richard were charter members of The Apostolic Church of Beaumont since its inception in 1969. She was very involved in ladies auxiliary and fundraising efforts which contributed towards the Building Fund for the current church sanctuary, located at 3333 Eastex Freeway, Beaumont, Texas. She and Richard could be found participating in church Golden Plus events and fundraisers such as barbecue dinners, Apostolic Trade Days, church garage sales and peanut brittle sales, and they looked forward to every Tuesday morning prayer service. Together, they read the Bible through every year for many, many years.

She was a fantastic cook, and holiday meals were memorable in her home. Homemade coconut pie was her specialty, and “DeeDee’s” cherry birthday cakes were a delicious tradition. She loved to fish and garden. She crafted numerous gorgeous hand-made quilts, which she gifted to her family. Frances was a prayer warrior who had a quiet, reserved exterior, but a strong will to serve God. She lived a life of true faithfulness.

Frances leaves behind her daughter, Sharon June Wrinkle; son, Phil Brannan and wife, Robin Smith Brannan; granddaughters, Melodi Wrinkle Price and husband, Clint Price; Melissa Wrinkle; Sunni Brannan Gonzales and husband, Shayne Gonzales; and great-granddaughter, Savannah Kate Gonzales. She is also survived by niece, Michelle Cole LaBrie and husband, Rev. Michael LaBrie; and nephew, Marvin Wendell Cole. She cherished her life-long friendships here on earth, but her greatest desire has been fulfilled: to move from the Church Militant and join the Church Triumphant!

Remembering Frances

Frances was a fantastic cook, and holiday meals were memorable in her home. Homemade coconut pie was her specialty, and “DeeDee’s” cherry birthday cakes were a delicious tradition. She loved to fish and garden. She crafted numerous gorgeous hand-made quilts, which she gifted to her family. Frances was a prayer warrior who had a quiet, reserved exterior, but a strong will to serve God. She lived a life of true faithfulness.

Pallbearers

Randy Hughes
Shayne Gonzales
Clint Price
Ronnie Albritton
Tim Morgan
Reverend Steve Adams

Interment

Magnolia Cemetery
Beaumont, Texas

Please sign Mrs. Brannan's guest book and share your memories at www.broussards1889.com