Lynda Herrington Moncla was born on May 11, 1950, to Leo and Thelma Herrington, in Beaumont, Texas. She went to be with the Lord on March 15, 2018, after a short battle with cancer. Lynda attended French High School and Lamar University.

In 1973, she married the love of her life, Wayne Moncla. Together they had two wonderful sons who made her very proud.

In her younger years she worked as a secretary, phlebotomist, and medical transcriptionist.

Later in life she found peace staying at home. She was very attached to her loving cat, Suki.

Lynda enjoyed traveling, especially the Texas Hill Country and Fredericksburg.

She is preceded in death by her parents. Lynda is survived by her husband, Wayne; sister, Debbie Herrington of Beaumont; sons, Brandon Moncla and his wife, Amber, and their children, Wyatt and Adelaide, of Houston and Aaron Moncla and his wife, Stephanie, and their children, Blake and Bryson, of Abilene.
