Me For Him, Him For Me

He was a man of many friends and loved by them all
Time spent with, them made him feel tall
He loved his kids, his mother, and his family for sure
A beautiful soul inside and out a true friend to endure
Street smarts and self educated was he
A God believing man was all he could be
Not a perfect man, but a man indeed
Always fought for his family in their time in need
He would do for his partners and fam in a heartbeat
Gave the benefit of doubt to those he would meet
Sometimes he thought he was in line for last
Such a shame his time expired so fast.
He was the type you had to tell "I love you" everyday
But the type who reminded you he too loved you in each and every way
I will miss my bro, and all he was and could be
My one and only brother – me for him – him for me.

Love you Dilly,
NáNá
