PSALM 100: Unison reading

“Make a joyful noise unto the LORD, all ye lands. Serve the LORD with gladness, come before his presence with singing. Know ye that the LORD he is God, it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture. Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise, be thankful unto him, and bless his name. For the LORD is good; his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endureth to all generations.”

Amazing Grace

Amazing Grace, how sweet the sound,
That saved a wretch like me.
I once was lost but now am found,
Was blind, but now I see.

T'was Grace that taught my heart to fear.
And Grace, my fears relieved.
How precious did that Grace appear
The hour I first believed.

Through many dangers, toils and snares
I have already come;
'Tis Grace that brought me safe thus far
and Grace will lead me home.

The Lord has promised good to me.
His word my hope secures.
He will my shield and portion be,
As long as life endures.

Yea, when this flesh and heart shall fail,
And mortal life shall cease,
I shall possess within the veil,
A life of joy and peace.

When we've been there ten thousand years
Bright shining as the sun.
We've no less days to sing God's praise
Than when we've first begun.

Dr. John Alden Osborne, Jr. (“Jack” or “Papa” to his many friends and loved ones) died peacefully at home on April 16, 2021. He was born January 24, 1928, to John Alden Osborne, Sr., and wife, Wilda Cullen Bonner Osborne, in Memphis, Tennessee, where he spent his formative years. Upon graduating from Messick High School in Memphis, Jack entered the Navy where he was stationed in the Panama Canal Zone. After being honorably discharged from the service, he went on to earn his undergraduate degree from Memphis State and medical doctorate from the University of Tennessee.

It was in his last year of medical school that he told his mother he had “found the girl he was going to marry.” He had met the love of his life, Billie Dean Hooper, and they were engaged three months later. They married on December 28, 1953, after his graduation from medical school and immediately moved to California for his medical internship at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital in Oakland. Next, they moved to Texas for his residency in Anesthesiology at UTMB’s John Sealy Hospital in Galveston. Both wanting to remain in Texas to raise a family, Jack had the good fortune of meeting fellow anesthesiologists Bill Darnell, Russell Bebeau, and Cecil Glass from Beaumont. He was invited to join their practice and helped grow it to become Anesthesia Associates. He continued to practice there for forty-two years.

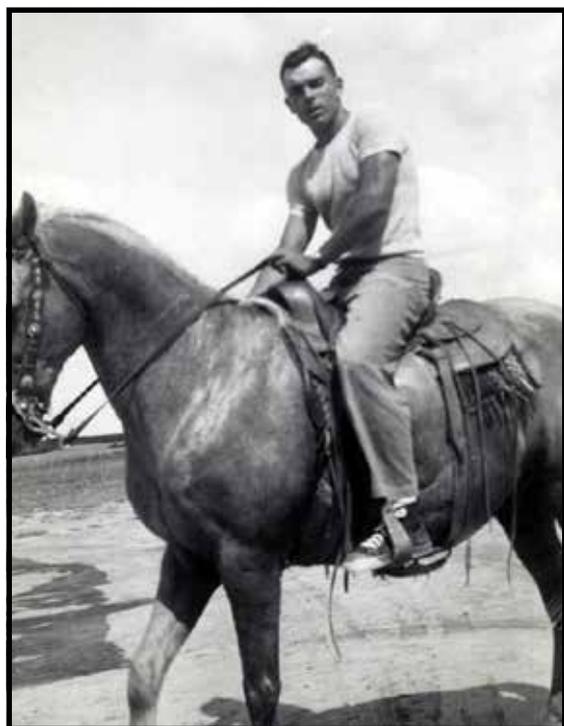

Jack was a perpetual boy scout and was “always prepared” with a solution for any situation that might arise. In addition to being a practicing anesthesiologist, Jack was also an accomplished woodworker, machinist, welder, and jewelry maker. Many artifacts of his work can still be found today about the homes and persons of family and friends scattered throughout the country.

During the 1970s and early '80s, Jack could often be found enjoying time with family and friends outside of Johnson City, Texas, at the OJO ranch that he shared with his brother-in-law, Alfred M. Johns, and his lifelong friend Dr. Timothy J. (TJ) O'Neill. He also enjoyed flying his Cessna 182 Skylane for pleasure as well as for trips. Jack and Billie shared a love of travel and enjoyed many adventures around the globe over the years, especially during their "empty nest" years. One of Jack's favorite places was Africa where he had gone on safari with his brother-in-law in the 70s, and again with Billie on a photo safari celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary. He also loved playing golf with his Chokers group and enjoyed once a month lunches with his RODEO group (Retired Old Doctors Eating Out.)

Until his final few days, Jack was a steadfast protector and provider for his family, always making sure everyone else was cared for. He is survived by his loving and devoted wife of 67 years, Billie, daughter Donna Osborne Vallee, son, Thomas W. Osborne and wife, Tanya, daughter-in-law, Thea Osborne, his many grandchildren (who were his pot of gold at the end of the rainbow), grandsons Michael Vallee, Daniel Vallee, Devin Osborne, Jacob Osborne, and granddaughters Elliott Osborne and Remy Osborne, his brother William (Bill) H. Osborne and wife, Nell, and numerous nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his firstborn son, John Alden Osborne, III, his parents, Wilda and John A. Osborne, Sr., his sister, Mary Anne Johns, and grandson Alden Thomas Osborne.

The family gives special thanks to Altus Hospice, and his wonderful caregivers Deneka Roberts and Whitney Bean for their compassionate and loving caring of Jack.
