

Jack Hing Wong, Jr.

October 1, 1954 - December 19, 2022

Celebrating the Life of Jack Hing Wong, Jr.
Friday, December 23, 2022 3:00 p.m.
Westgate Memorial Baptist Church
Beaumont, Texas

Welcome and Prayer
Dr. Raymond McHenry

Jack's Testimony

Scripture and Remarks
Steve Jean

Reading of Obituary
Trevor Wong

Congregational Hymn
"Because He Lives"

Personal Reflections
Trey Wong, Bart Mathis, Dave Carpenter

"In the Sweet By and By" - Sarah Mathis
Video Collage

Personal Reflections
Thomas Burrets and Jeff Sandusky

"He's Been Faithful"
John and Shari Griffin

"Jack's Legacy"

Eulogy
Dr. Raymond McHenry

Closing Prayer

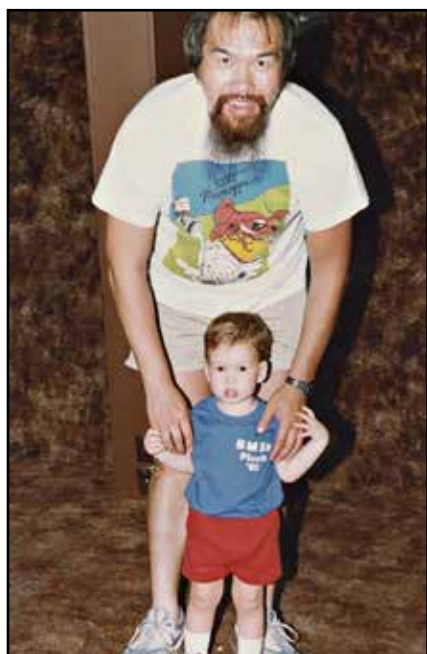

Jack Hing Wong, Jr., 68, of Beaumont, died Monday, December 19, 2022, at his home in Beaumont, Texas. He was born on October 1st, 1954, to Jack Hing Wong and Mah Shee Wong, in Cleveland, Mississippi. A unique man with broad interests, Jack had well-documented love for golf, distance running, his long career in physical therapy, saving money via a good sale, and all-you-can-eat Chinese buffets. He was a collector who, over the years, enjoyed accumulating fish for his koi pond, large dogs, large sons, rare coins, guns, value packs of discounted flashlights, old receipts, medical supplies (“borrowed” from the hospital), and random papers to stack on his chaotic office desk. Jack was a mostly-proud father to four sons, an adoring grandfather to two girls, and though he often acted reluctant to spend the money, he secretly loved spoiling all six of them.

Jack spent 40 years in the Golden Triangle as a physical therapist working both in hospitals and home health settings. He graduated from Delta State University with a biology degree, and completed physical therapy school at UMC Jackson, MS of Ole Miss. Jack loved his work and cared deeply for his work family. Anyone who knew him was well aware of his incredible work ethic, and he truly enjoyed being at his “home away from home”. He was a natural caregiver, a man of compassion, patience, and humility, and his heart ached for hurting and downcast people. Jack took his position as a deacon at Westgate Memorial Baptist Church very seriously. He prayed for his deacon families regularly, and touched many lives through various ministries. A couple of his favorites were mission trips and VBS. Whether at work, church, or in his personal life, Jack never shied away from “the least of these” and he did not desire attention or accolades.

Preceding Jack in death are his parents, Jack Wong, Sr. and Mah Shee Wong of Cleveland, Mississippi; his brothers, William Wong of Cleveland, Mississippi; Richard Wong of Dallas, Texas; Phillip Wong of Magnolia, Texas, and his sister, Evelyn “Auntie” Wong Herrmann of Georgetown, Texas. Jack is survived by his wife, Lenee Mathis Wong of Beaumont, Texas, and son, Jack Hing “Trey” Wong III, daughter-in-law, Hillary Wong, and granddaughters, Emmy and Layla Wong, of League City, Texas; sons, Trevor Wong of Beaumont, Texas; Trent Wong of Louisville, Kentucky; Troy Wong, and daughter-in-law, Emily Wong of Beaumont, Texas; sister, Patricia Wolf, and brother-in-law, Otto Wolf of Lake Village, Arkansas.

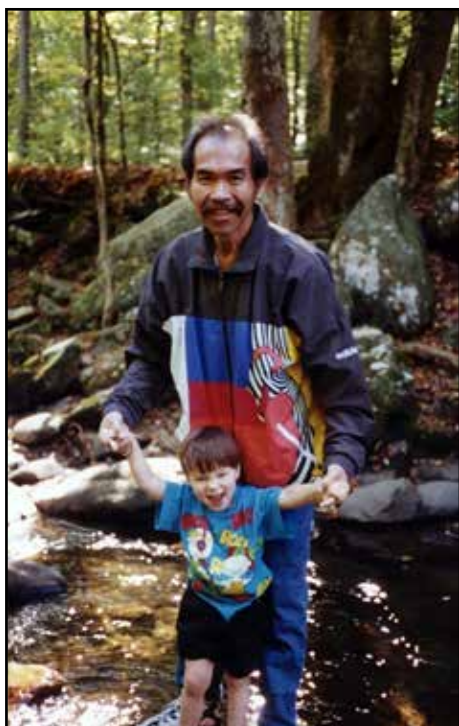

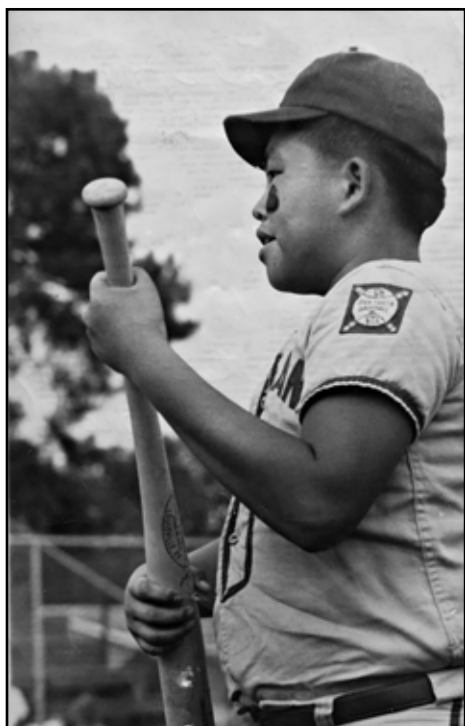

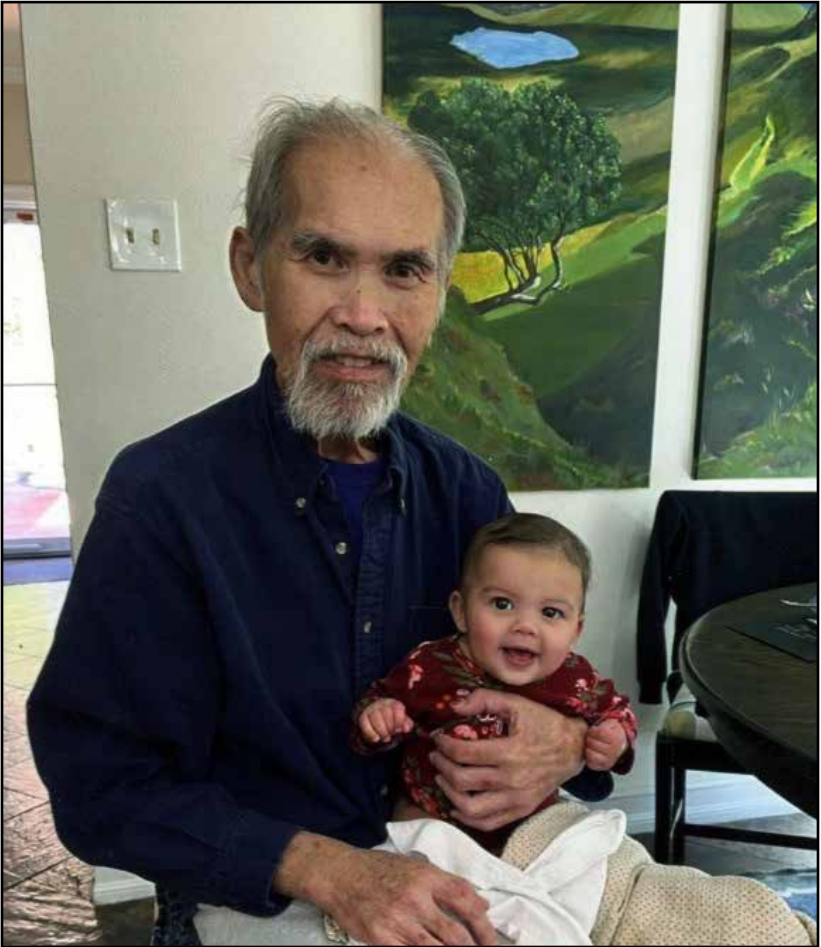

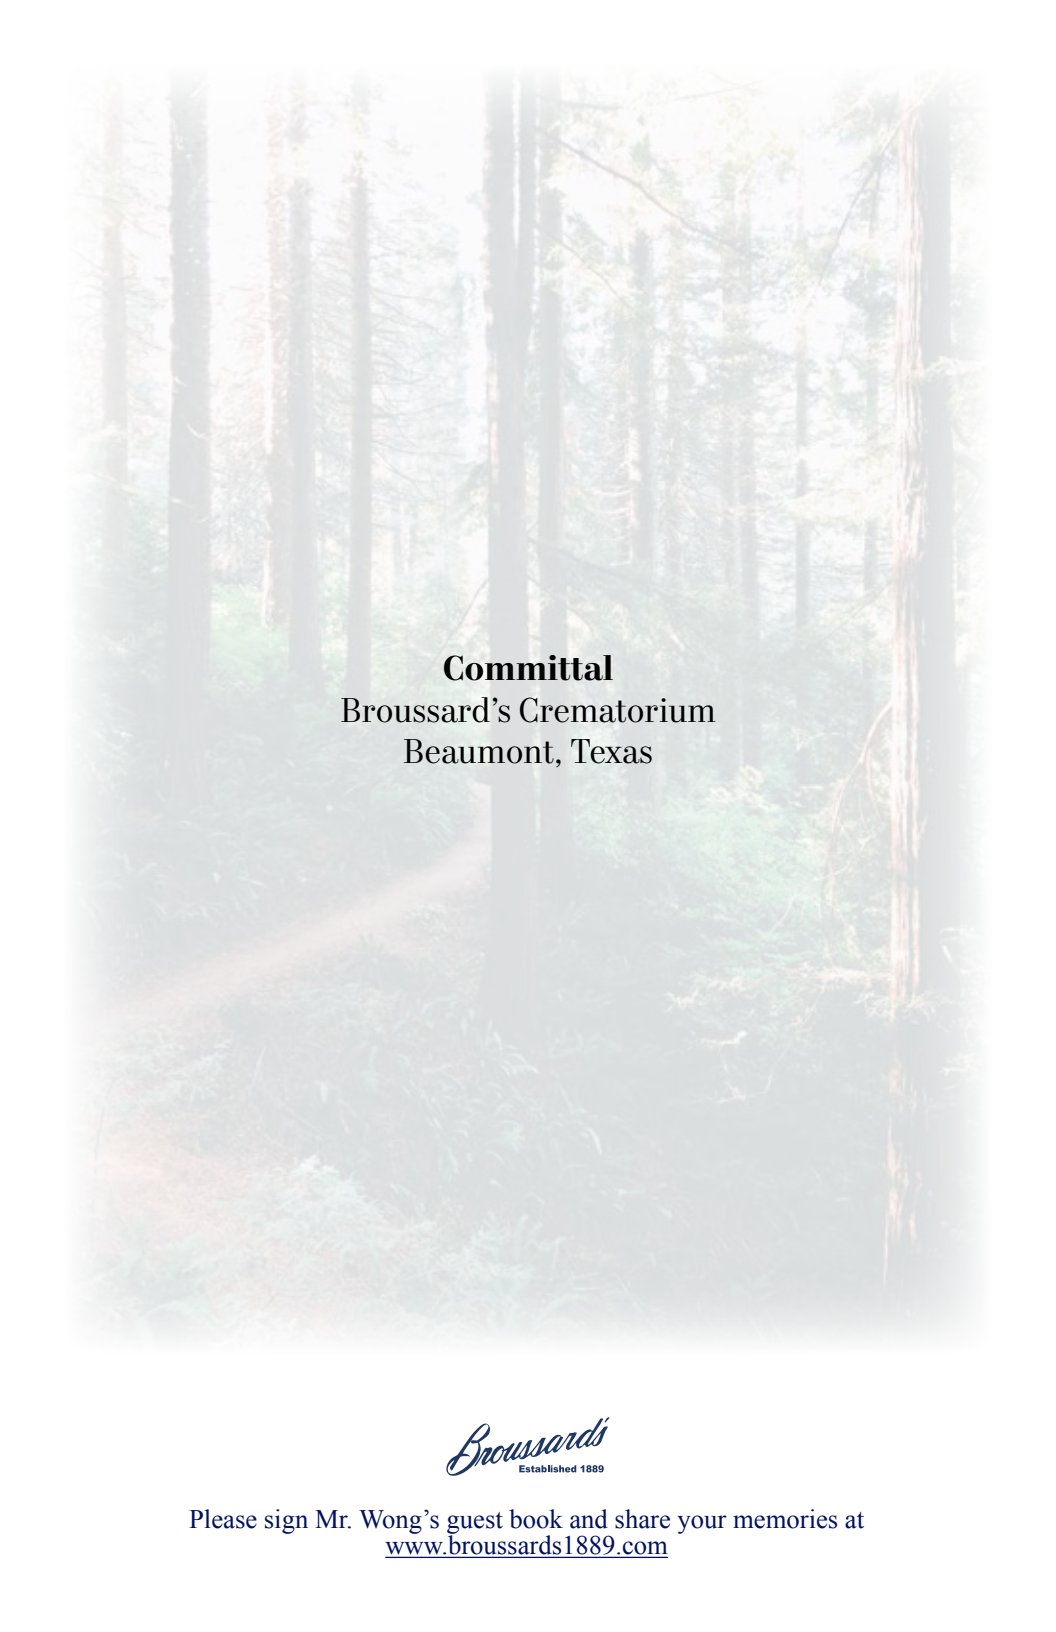

Committal
Broussard's Crematorium
Beaumont, Texas

Broussard's
Established 1889

Please sign Mr. Wong's guest book and share your memories at www.broussards1889.com