Doris Laird passed away on April 10, 2023, at Willowbrook Christian Village in Delaware, Ohio. She was born on June 12, 1940, in Vinton, Louisiana, the daughter of Leamon Aldredge and Hazel (Glover) Aldredge.

Doris graduated from Vinton High School in 1958. She was in the marching band and was selected to the Louisiana All-State Choir all 4 years of high school.

Doris moved to Beaumont, Texas, and married John Laird on June 18, 1966. They were happily married for 56 years. She stayed home to raise her 2 daughters but eventually returned to work at MONY and KBMT television station where she retired in 2004. Doris was very involved in her church, Calvary Baptist Church in Beaumont, Texas. She participated in Women's Bible studies, but her greatest joy came from singing in the choir. Doris didn't miss a chance to perform in Calvary's Christmas and Easter Musical. She also sang in The Messiah at McNeese University in Lake Charles, Louisiana, for over 30 years.

Doris was a loving wife but especially cherished her two daughters. She also delighted in spending time with her four grandchildren.

In addition to her parents, Doris was predeceased by her younger sister, Anita Block. Surviving in addition to her husband, John Laird of Powell, Ohio, is her daughter, Stacy Palumbo and her husband, John Palumbo, of Nolensville, Tennessee, along with their children, Jordan and Jackson Palumbo of Knoxville, Tennessee; daughter, Robin Leger and her husband, Todd Leger, of Powell, Ohio, and their children, Blakelyn Leger of Conway, South Carolina and Gillian Leger, of Powell, Ohio. Doris is also survived by two sisters, Lollie Thompson of Sulphur, Louisiana and Elizabeth Black of Sweeny, Texas.
