Sheila Annette Kellogg McWhirter, 86, of Vidor, died Tuesday, July 1, 2025. She was born on October 5, 1938, in DeQuincy, Louisiana, to Verna Mae Hyatt and William Jennings Wood.

Annette was Valedictorian of her 1956 class at Hyatt High School in Fields, Louisiana, and she immediately married her true love J.W. Kellogg for 28 years, until he died of terminal cancer in 1984. She was blessed to have Delbert McWhirter come into her life in 2001 and share their lives for four years before he passed. Annette's faith and church was her salvation, and she played many roles in the church, Director of Home Bound for Seniors, planning meetings and trips for Seniors, teaching Ladies Sunday School Class and Vacation Bible School. She loved reading her Bible to help her through life. Annette loved staying busy, she loved to cross stitch and was a proficient seamstress. She loved flowers and was a Master Gardener. She was a renown cook and loved reading and compiling cookbooks. And she stayed busy volunteering at Lutch Theater, Shangri La Botanical Garden, and the Orange County Master Gardeners Club. Annette's optimistic, loving and giving attitude will be deeply missed.

Survivors include her children, Deanna Kellogg Belanger of Sugar Land; Jeanna Hofmann and her husband, Joe, of Houston; and Jonathan Kellogg and his wife, Kim, of Vidor; grandchildren, Chance Hofmann of Denver, Colorado; Jeremy Marcantel and his wife, Tonya, of Vidor; Jonathan Theal and his wife, Krystal, of Vidor; Ashley Shriner and her husband, Nathan, of Vidor; and Alan Theal and his wife, Courtney, of Lumberton; ten great-grandchildren; and one great-great-grandchild; siblings, Wilma Jean and Gary Dale; numerous nieces and nephews; and extended family and friends.

Annette is preceded in death by her parents; first husband, John Kellogg; second husband, Delbert McWhirter; siblings, Nola Jane Simmons and Edward Wood; and great-grandchildren, Jaylee Theal and Logan Shriner.
